

The Background Story

When Bernard Schimmel came through a serious health issue in 2009 he sought to thank the hospital and those who had cared for him. At the time the hospital was expanding and a row of maple trees was removed. One of these trees Bernard turned into a massive boardroom table for the hospital which became a piece of art in the hospital hallway. Others were used to create cheeseboards as individual gifts. This series of events inspired Bernard to spawn Canadian Cheeseboards.

Through the process of forest management Bernard selects portions of trees that are uniquely and irregularly shaped. The natural shapes, holes, curves and live edges provide the artistry which defines the Canadian Cheese Boards.

Over the years Bernard has grown his company with care and passion taking great pride in the product and in their customers' satisfaction.
